Administration and Supply.

After the transfer of Major Max S. Kable to the University of Maryland, the duties of Squadron Commander were assumed by Major Anthony D. Lucas. He in turn was replaced by Lt. Col. Robert D. Grandmontagne. The Squadron Strength as of 1 August 1946 was 56 Officers and 215 Enlisted men. Due to transfers the strength as of 31 August 1946 was 42 Officers and 172 Enlisted men. Supply Activities remained fairly stable. Normal duties and routine were carried out under the Supervision of Lt. Maxey, Supply Officer.

1st Lt. Alfred E. Freed assumed supervision of this section (Engineering). Normal repair and maintenance duties were performed.

326 Bomb Squadron

The 326th Bombardment Squadron, 92nd Bombardment Group (VH), was redesignated from the 713 Bombardment Squadron, 448th Bombardment Group (VH) effective 4 August 1946 per General Order # 45, headquarters 15th AF, dated 29 July 1946.

All policies, squadron orders, and opinions of Lt. Colonel Robert F. Stafford, 326th Bombardment Squadron Commanding Officer, have been placed on file, replacing those of the 713th Bombardment Squadron.

The primary mission of the 326th Bombardment Squadron, administrative section, was to prepare morning reports, sick book, duty and guard rosters, and correspondence. To prepare and maintain charts and files.

The administrative accomplishments of the 326th Bombardment Squadron (VH) are evidenced as follows.

All records pertaining to 713th Bombardment Squadron, 448th Bombardment Group (VH) were compiled and forwarded to Bomb Group Headquarters.

Policy file for 326th Bombardment Squadron was re-written to conform with specifications as required by 92nd Bombardment Group Headquarters. Two copies of this police file were forwarded to Group Headquadters for use in that office.

15AF Inspection Teams interviewed personnel of this Squadron for efficiency of records section.

The Air Inspectors' inspection of the Squadron records and Squadron area noted two descrepancies, upon which corrective action has been completed. The Squadron Policy file and Orderly room and Squadron area were in excellent condition.

Group School training was scheduled for ground and flying personnel. Chemical Warfare was a comparatively new subject to be discussed. Considerable interest was shown by personnel.

All personnel were qualified in small-arms firing.

In compliance with Base Regulations, drill periods, orientations, and inspections were scheduled and complied with.

On 15 August, at 1930, a Squadron Party was held for all EM of the 326th Bombardment Squadron. Refreshments and entertainment were supplied from unit fund.

On 28 August, Major John A. Des Portes was relieved from assignment and additional duty as Squadron Operations Officer for purposes of transfer. Major Sapp was assigned to replace Major Des Portes.

Supply Completed turn-in of all excess TAT Equipment to Base Quartermaster.

Property books for TAT Equipment of Both Headquarters and 326th Bombardment Squadron were completed.

During this, the first month of the newly designated Squadron, a more efficient system of scheduling personnel to duties and training has been engaged. Careful planning and maintaining records for details are unitized. This action affords the Squadron Operations better training and eliminates confusion.

During the month of August, the Engineering section operated with a considerably smaller staff of skilled personnel. During the early part of this month, the section lost approximately 45% of its' skilled Airplane Mechanics (747's), the Line Chief, and the Flight Cheif, making it necessary to appoint new personnel to the jobs.

The total flying time of the Squadron ships for this month was 114:50 hours.

The communications department is functioning under the direction of M/Sgt. Gordon S. Lugenbeel Jr., as communications carries only two (2) radio Operators, one of which is not on flying status.

The Armament section is manned by S/Sgt Ocie L. Beaird. The Squadron is without an Armament Officer.

327th Bomb Squadron

Reference was made to the Adjutant General's last years inspection of this Group. Discrepancies which might reoccur were corrected.

The transfer of incoming and outgoing Enlisted men caused the main activity of the Squadron Supply. Approximately twelve hundred (1200) personal contacts were made. The TAT equipment was inspected and moved to another part of the TAT Hanger.

The average time flown per pilot was eleven (11) hours, and the average observer time was six (6) hours. Each pilot is receiving the required six (6) hour instrument training period for the purpose of enabling him to pass his AD AAF Form #6 (White Instrument Card).

GROUP SUPPLY

During the month of August, excesses from Squadrons were still being turned in to Station Supply. Limitations in Station Supply Receiving De pt. prevented all turn-ins from being being completed. Aside from normal routine operations, the largest job of each Squadron Supply was proper establishment and maintenance of Squadron Property Books and allied records.

Inventory of Group Morale and Miscellaneous equipment was completed. A complete card index file was set up at this office listing contents of each box in storage, and also alphabetically listing material by item.

All Supply Sections of the Group were 100% manned throughout the month of August. There was no turn over of personnel.

All training was on-the-job training. Clerk-typist remain the least trained of all supply personnel being approximately 60% proficient.

GROUP MEDICAL SECTION

The mission of the medical section of the 92d Bombardment Group (VH) is to maintain the health of all elements of the command by preventive medicine, immunization, education, prompt treatment of illness or injury and by supervision of sanitary measures; to train medical department personnel in the duties involved in the care of battle or occupational casualties; to train all personnel of the Group in elementary first aid, sanitation and personal hygiene; and to train crew members in such elements in advanced first aid as will enable them properly to treat injured personnel in aircraft prior to return to the ground.

MAINTENANCE

The mission of the Maintenance Section is to furnish the Training Division with aircraft in good mechanical condition in order that the Training Devision can fulfill its mission.

More aircraft were put in commission and flown during the month of August than any previous month of this year. An approximate average of eight (8) airplanes assigned were flown a total of 310:30 hours.

Considerable progress was made toward fulfillment of requirement of this section, however certain factors impeded this section in meeting these requirements.

The loss of personnel in MOS 747 and 750 from a percentage of 93 assigned as of August 1, to a percentage of 51 assigned as of 30 August, 1946.

The inability of the Base Unit to furnish supplies needed for immediate consumption.

No change in organization, administration or procedures were made during the month of August, 1946.

TRAINING

Due to the fact that the majority of the air crew members of the 92d Bombardment Group (VH) have been through the Combat Crew Phase Training program more than one time, a cross training program has been put into operations to train crew members in the duties of the other members of the crew. Airplane Commanders and Pilots are being given an extensive course in navigation and communications; Bombardiers are being given further training in gunnery. In as much as the experience level of the Flight Engineers is, in general, not as high as that of other crew members, they are being given further and more detailed instructions in engineering. All gunners are being given instructions in airplane maintenance to give them a better overall conception of the aircraft and at the same time to alleviate the critical shortage of trained maintenance personnel. This training program will continue for a period of several months. When crew members become proficient in the job that they are now training they will be trained in the duties of still another crew member.

In accordance with Fifteenth air force letter A3V-360, Dated 5 August 1946, an Instrument School has been set up for all rated pilots on this field. The course is of five (5) weeks duration, during which time all pilots attend five (5) hour lectures on instrument flying for a total of ten (10) hours. The instructors for this school are all recent graduates of the Instrument Flying School at Barksdale Field, La.
